

Team Building powered by Online Escape Game

With so many colleagues working from home, Online Escape Game offers a fantastic means whereby they can all come together for a common cause. Using remote video conferencing software, everyone can join in from anywhere. During this period of Covid19, it's incredibly important that all members of any business feel connected. Both to their business and to each other. With so many workers now in lock-down, it's important to address issues of mental health. To that end, playing a game which requires the involvement of everyone, is a great means of strengthening bonds, reaffirming friendships and having a blast. Apart from online team building, it's equally important that all participants feel involved and useful. When it comes to escape room team building experience, we have a proven track record of a decade of offering these games. So let us do the heavy lifting when it comes to organising your team building exercise. It's what we do best!
